```
select *
from `e1.customers`

select *
from `e1.customers`
limit 5

select distinct CustomerID
from `e1.customers`

-- Give me information of the customer with id C014

select *
from `e1.customers`
where CustomerID = "C014"

SELECT column1, column2, ...
FROM table_name
WHERE condition

select CustomerID,
  Name,
  Gender
from `e1.customers`
where CustomerID = "C014"

-- Find customers who have spent more than ₹1,00,000. --> this will need join concept

The Customer Support team wants a list of all customers with their city.

select CustomerID,
  City
from `e1.customers`

Show all product categories available.
```

```sql
select * from `e1.products` limit 5

select distinct CategoryID
from `e1.products`

-- Display Customers from Nagpur

select *
from `e1.customers`
where city = "Nagpur"

-- Display Female Customers

select *
from `e1.customers`
where Gender = "F"

Display Customers Older Than 30

select *
from `e1.customers`
where age > 30

Display Products Costing at most ₹50,000

select *
from `e1.products`

select *
from `e1.products`
where SellingPrice <= 50000

-- Display Delivered Orders
select *
from `e1.orders`
limit 5
```

```sql
select distinct status
from `e1.orders`

select *
from `e1.orders`
where status = "Delivered"

select *
from `e1.orders`
where status = "delivered"

-- Display Orders That Are Not Delivered

select *
from `e1.orders`
where status != "Delivered"

Count Total Customers

select CustomerID
from `e1.customers`

select count(*)
from `e1.customers`

Count Customers from Mumbai

select *
from `e1.customers`
where city = "Mumbai"

select count(*)
from `e1.customers`
where city = "Mumbai"

The HR Manager wants to see the names of employees working in the Operations department.
```

```
select * from `e1.employees`

select distinct Department
from `e1.employees`

select *
from `e1.employees`
where department = "Operations"

Display all products supplied by Supplier ID 3.

select *
from `e1.products`

select *
from `e1.products`
where SupplierID = "SUP003"

The Inventory team wants to see products having stock less than 30 units.

select *
from `e1.inventory`

select ProductID
from `e1.inventory`
where stock < 30

Find all customers who signed up after 2023-01-01.

select *
from `e1.customers`
where SignupDate > '2024-01-05'

Count how many different product categories exist in the products table.

select *
from `e1.products`
```

```sql
select distinct CategoryID
from `e1.products`

select count(distinct CategoryID)
from `e1.products`
```